

MSc Responsible Management and Sustainable Economic Development

Program description

Business and economics School

The program focuses on the economic and management aspects of peace while emphasizing the ideals of sustainability and accountability. It was founded on the conviction that in order to better contribute to the promotion of long-term peace, it is necessary to investigate the role of the economy in the world today, as well as its influence on our environment and the well-being of society. Rural and urban poverty, expanding inequalities and inequities, environmental degradation, financial crises, and globalization are all threatening political, economic, and social stability in all countries. Finding solutions that will preserve and defend social structures for future generations is an increasing concern in modern society.

Modes for delivery

Online, Language of teaching is English

Duration

This is a full-time 12 months

Entry Requirements

A bachelor's degree or its equivalent from an Institution of Higher Education, as accepted by the University's Senate subject to a minimum of 5 years of working experience in a relevant field. English proficiency sufficient to meet the needs of the program

Program outcomes

The goal of the program is to help students understand responsible management and sustainable economic development. You will gain the skills necessary to work in the corporate, public, or social sectors and to apply sustainability principles to business and organizational operations. You will also be trained as a responsible manager with a strong emphasis on sustainability. You will receive training on how to lead organizations pursuing sustainable transitions and how to turn complicated challenges into opportunities for public, commercial, civil society groups, and social businesses.

Program structure

Dissertation, core modules and learning model: This program includes a dissertation that counts for the degree credits.