

MSc Sustainable Development

Program description

Environmental studies and Sustainability School

The program aims to train a new generation of interdisciplinary practitioners skilled in management and issue resolution via the use of analytics and systems thinking motivated by global problems. To provide students with the required managerial skills and knowledge to develop innovative solutions to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Corporate sustainability strategies, social entrepreneurship, finance and sustainability, sustainable management and operations, and economics and development are all covered. Students are exposed to real-world practices and case studies in order to obtain a comprehensive grasp of the potential and difficulties associated with attaining the SDGs in scientific, economic, commercial, and technical areas.

Modes for delivery

Online, Language of teaching is English

Duration

This is a full-time 12 months

Entry Requirements

A bachelor's degree or its equivalent from an Institution of Higher Education, as accepted by the University's Senate subject to a minimum of 5 years of working experience in a relevant field. English proficiency sufficient to meet the needs of the program

Program outcomes

The program intended to assist student to understand the fundamental ideas of sustainable development. Recognize the significance of sustainable development for the governance, economy, and society. Learn about the UN's sustainable development objectives (SDGs) and how they apply to public policy.

Program structure

Dissertation, core modules and learning model: This program includes a dissertation that counts for the degree credits.